An ode to light sings the way of the wandering light, which comes from the universe and is born from the union of night and light. Wandering, it lingers for a short time in each place it visits, wandering around it, going from door to door and leaving its gift of light behind. It overcomes boundaries, falls in love, is angry, shows the future and laughs. It visits places of humiliation, powerlessness and hopelessness, and gives them a home, courage and protection.

The wandering light tries to understand each place it visits and shows itself to them in different guises: as a shimmering cube, a folded labyrinth of light, as a pulsating vibration in rainbow colours, as a diamond light floating above the horizon, gently humming the music of the night.

It dissolves boundaries, unites continents in the air, transforms what is fear, is here and there at the same time, lifts up the reality of time.

At the end of its wanderings around the earth, it moves on into space, but not before leaving behind its scent, like the scent of time and its omnipresence.

Beijing, Agra, Barcelona, New York, Gerona, Ankara and Zaatari are the places it encounters on its journey. The movements, frozen for a moment, allow us to sense its vibrations and its pulse on its way around the earth.

Wolfgang Rang, who works as an architect in Frankfurt am Main, has been dealing with the phenomenon of light in architecture and art for many years. Three books on this subject by him have al-ready been published by Edition Axel Menges: Licht Raum/Light Space (2014), Stadt Licht/City Light (2017) and Regenbogen-Blitze/Rainbow Lightnings (2022).
